SUNDAY	MONDAY	TUESDAY	WEDNESDAY	THURSDAY	FRIDAY	SATURDAY
	1 October is National Sarcastic Awareness Month , but it's probably not worth noting.	2 Book release: Broken Things by Lauren Oliver	3 It's National Techies Day . Celebrate by sharing mind-boggling facts about women in technology.	4 It's National Taco Day , the perfect excuse to celebrate by crafting tiny tacos from polymer clay.	5 Encourage random acts of kindness for World Smile Day . One good deed usually starts an avalanche, so trigger a chain reaction!	6 Coordinate a STEM program with robots as part of World Space Week .
7 Celebrate Teen Read Week with activities and displays to "Read For the Fun of It."	8 You're never too old for tag! Coordinate a nostalgic playdate program to honor American Touch Tag Day .	9 Book release: Dear Evan Hansen: The Novel by Val Emmich with Steven Levenson, Benj Pasek and Justin Paul	10 Create a bookmark of titles and resources in support of National Bullying Prevention Month and Stop Bullying Day .	11 Partner with the school district's history teachers to discuss your local archives with students during American Archives Month .	12 The Hitchhiker's Guide to the Galaxy by Douglas Adams was released on this day in 1979. Celebrate by showing off your sci-fi collection.	13 The US Navy was established on this day in 1775. Feature your ASVAB test resources.
14 In 1582, this day did not exist in many European countries due to the adoption of the Gregorian calendar. In fact, the calendar skipped from Oct. 4 to Oct. 15. Clean out the lost and found box in honor of these lost days.	15 Host a DIY costume brainstorming session. Invite a speaker from the local theater group or steampunk society, or a cosplay enthusiast.	16 Pick a word of the day to feature on social media for National Dictionary Day , which is celebrated on the anniversary of Noah Webster's birth in 1758.	17 Coordinate a chess contest or lessons to commemorate the 1956 Game of the Century played between Donald Byrne and Bobby Fischer in New York.	18 Partner with the Humane Society to give a program on adoptable animals in honor of Félicette, a stray who became the first cat-stronaut in 1963.	19 Illustrator Ed Emberley was born on this day in 1931. Put out Post-its and pens for a passive program on doodling to celebrate.	20 Actor Viggo Mortensen was born on this day in 1958. Enjoy a Lord of the Rings viewing party.
21 Actress Carrie Fisher was born on this day in 1956. Host a Star Wars program to celebrate.	22 It's National Color Day . Have patrons take a fun personality assessment based on their favorite colors.	23 A chemist's favorite holiday: National Mole Day commemorates Avogadro's Number.	24 Encourage staff to wear orange in support of Unity Day .	25 Pablo Picasso was born on this day in 1881. Explore art history with a craft program on Cubism .	26 Host a cereal sampling to honor the birth of Charles William Post in 1854. Blind test generic versus name brands.	27 Build a horror film display to gear up for fright night.
28 On this day in 1904, St. Louis police were the first in the US to use fingerprints . Spotlight your true crime collection and invite your police department to talk about forensic science.	29 On this day in 1969, the first host-to-host connection was made via ARPANET, the genesis of the Internet.	30 Create a display to commemorate the historic Rumble in the Jungle boxing match between Muhammad Ali and George Foreman, held on this day in 1974 in Zaire.	31 Host an alternative "falloween" program for those who aren't into Halloween. Decorate pumpkins or make autumnal crafts.	Share delicious recipes for National Cookie Month! Create a display of biographies, autobiographies, and documentaries to commemorate LGBT History Month.
